

I want the Wisconsin no-call list to remain just as strong as it is, if not stronger. Corporations engaging in telemarketing, whether it is to new prospects or old customers, are merely trying to turn a higher profit, because telemarketing is far cheaper than direct mail. Let's not improve corporations' profit margins at the expense of the ordinary citizen of this country. You are supposed to be protecting the general citizenry and not corporate interests. Do your job.